

Reporting Training Objectives

Part 1: Recognize and identify events and conditions that are reportable under potentially applicable reporting criteria.

Part 2: Using the regulations and NUREG-1022 for reference, correctly identify the applicable reporting requirements of 10 CFR 50.72 and/or 10 CFR 50.73.

Part 3: Describe the necessary conditions for reporting defects in basic components under 10 CFR Part 21.

Part 4: Describe the necessary notifications and reports for security-related reports.

Part 5: Given the appropriate reporting requirement citations and guidance documents, accurately assess the reportability and required report/notification time frames for given conditions and events not related to operating events.

Certrec Academy training eclipses the current "death by Power Point" training model by engaging the learner with videos, slides, thought provoking Q & A, links to references, and mentorship.

I've taken my share of death by PowerPoint trainings, so I was completely surprised by the Certrec Academy courses. They pack a lot of information into fewer slides with great videos.
